4-Library Garden

Misr Public Library-Damanhour is provided with a garden which gives the visitor the beauty of the scenery and tranquility of nature, it is adorned by the Roman theater building. The Theatre can accommodate more than 150 personnel; it is an open-air theater displays all the different kinds of theatrical performances and arts. It is designed on the Romanian Greek model where the traditional form (semicircular) includes the orchestra in the middle, and then followed by a stage. The theatre is supplied with lighting and all necessary audio devices for the success of the various artistic performances.

The area of the garden in terms of breadth and distribution of trees and flowers made it an important destination like buildings and other parts of the library. The park includes an appropriate area called "the Exhibitions corner," which allows the possibility of preparing cultural exhibitions and forums in the tents at any time of the year.
